DO THIS

MORNING TIME

Think of something you could do for your preteen in the morning that would show them kindness—make a special breakfast, give a special treat in their lunch, or maybe complete one of their chores. They may or may not notice, but be sure to tell them, "Find a way to show someone God's goodness today!"

DRIVE TIME

Place a jar in the car for the entire week and tell your preteen that any person in the car who can't control their emotions or words, will have to give $1 to the jar. Parents are included on this! At the end of the week, evaluate: "What made it difficult to stay in control of emotions or words? What happens when we lose control?" Use the money at the end to buy a special treat!

MEAL TIME

Q&A for Kids: What's the best gift you were ever given?
Q&A for Parents: What is one thing you are really good at that helps others?

BED TIME

Talk about some of the good things in your life. When you start paying attention to all the wonderful things God has given you, you can start to show that goodness to others. You can be a friend. You can share what you have. You can help others see the unique things that God has given to them. Pray for each other, that you will have eyes this week to see the good things that God has given to you.
